

To whomsoever it may concern:

Akshay Mahendar has worked in my team as a UI lead in various important projects. He joined as a Tap in Bank of America and became the part of Client Financials team from day one of his job. Various projects which are used by thousands of clients on day to day bases is developed and maintained by him. His proactive nature is something that is admirable, and that as a technical manager I am proud of. He is very strong not only technically but also very confident in interacting with the business partners.

Put on test with a project called "Estimated Investment", Akshay took it as a challenge and accomplished the task in less than estimated completion time of business. I was also astonished to see him learning and implementing the coding languages, and bringing the expected results on the table with impressive improvisation. Seeing his ability to take up things and dedication to accomplish the task, I nominated him as a lead for the UI development in my team.

He has always been appreciated and complimented by the testing and business partners, for his dedication to finish up task quickly and efficiently before the estimated time. He not only takes part working on Business continuation projects but also spent time in researching and bringing something out of the box, which is useful for the bank. Many internal tools that make work easier for folks on a day to day life at work, is being developed and maintained by Akshay.

I have known him to be an amicable person with excellent communication skills. He has high potential for graduate study. His sound academic background, ability to think independently and his practicability in tackling innovative problems make him an ideal resource.

I therefore strongly recommend him to your esteemed institution with maximum possible assistance and I am confident that he will successfully complete his Graduate.

If I can be of any further assistance, or provide you with any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
